

My Voice in America's Democracy

Hello! Today I am going to be telling you how I would change America. The first thing I would do is add lots of security to schools with metal detectors and extra security into all schools to prevent any school shootings/violence I'll do anything to keep our country safe.

The second thing I would do for America is figure out medication for every disorder in America to help every person with a disorder or special medical needs

The third thing I would do for America is make all drugs and alcohol completely illegal and banned and get rid of it completely except for medical reasons and use.

The fourth thing I would do for America is get rid of/stop bullying because when people have been hurt they start to want to hurt the people they love and that shouldn't happen because everyone should be treated with kindness and love like you would be to your friends and family and also treat other how you want to be treated.

The fifth thing I would do to help America. I would love to pass out in case of an Emergency kits to everyone in case of a fire or blizzard or any problem or case you would need it in with flashlights, food and water band aids, thermal blankets and more.

The sixth thing I would do for America is I would give lots of money to charity. I would give all homeless people a home, food, water, blankets, pillows and bed, and more I would donate a lot to families in need in Africa. People that are going through hurricanes need money for medical help or medication or even wheelchairs, braces, and more.

The seventh thing I would do for America is for people that can't pay for their health and wellness. I would help them. I would give them lots of medical needs. People that were in the army that are veterans, I would thank them for their service and how much they have helped us in America and also help people that were in the army that can't afford prosthetic legs or arms that need it.

The eighth thing I would do for America is get rid of booming American violence and also any type of food shortages, any serges or any type of violent situation because no one deserves to go through any type of violence like that.

The ninth thing i would do for America is lower prices on gas and food and paper towel and tissue and every day needs because stuff is so overpriced for no reason at all I get that people want a lot of money, but think about the people that are retired and people who don't have jobs and can't pay bills.

I know I am still a young child but I have accepted the fact that everyone has a voice and needs to speak up and everyone needs to be grateful for what they have and understand what other people may not have. Thank you so much for hearing my voice in democracy.
