

p 22

“My Voice in America’s Democracy”

I have a voice in America’s excellent democracy, and I am proud of that voice. That voice comes with what stands above all, freedom. My voice gives me what many other countries would not allow, an opinion, a heartfelt proud opinion! I live in a wonderful country where I am able to let my thoughts roam wild. That is why I am privileged to have a voice in this wonderland of a country we live in.

With this creative voice I've been given, one day, I’ll be able to put my opinion to good use, and vote for who I want to be the president of this wonderful country we live in. My voice will one day maybe even be great enough that I can run to be the president of the entire country myself!

The freedom that this voice gives us is commonly overlooked because we live with it everyday, but really this freedom is the whole reason we're here today. The Founding Fathers fought for our freedom against the British, and gave us the country we have today! Without our freedom we may have still been stuck with the British, following their rules in their country.

Our country gives us four years to think about whether we want to keep the president we already have or to elect a new one. This is an admirable example of America’s democracy in elections because it lets people see good things about the president we already have instead of just giving up on them automatically.

My voice gives me rights. It gives me the ability to speak and lets me be able to have an opinion. My voice is the best voice this world will give. The beauty of living in America is that you are able to have freedom, an opportunity to spread your likeness, to live in a country that doesn't lie to you. This is why America has the most incredible democracy ever to be founded on this planet!