Is America today our ForeFathers vision? Yes and No. I think that some things have stayed the same and some things have changed. Some things are new like they probably didn't think that the Country was going to be as big as it is. I also don't think that the ForeFathers thought that people would be fighting over other people's opinions and not liking what they have to say. People argued a lot and I don't think that the Forefathers visioned people fighting and arguing all the time. Protecting our Rights and our General Welfare is hard because we have a lot of terrorists in our country who don't agree with giving people their own rights and to speak about their opinions and what they believe in by causing fights and hurting innocent people. Some people don't also agree with the government giving food stamps to some people and also cheap housing. I hope that we can make the world a better place.

We need to protect our rights as much as we can. We need our rights because if we lose any of our rights it might not go well. People will be mad and protesting trying to get them back. We need to protect the people that are from another country That grew up here and are citizens here because the government is trying to make them leave just because they don't want them here. If they aren't causing any harm or doing anything wrong, they should have the right to stay. People should be able to speak freely without any harm to them. It's a free country "and" if you don't like what that person is saying. Just don't say anything, just keep your opinion to yourself unless you want to cause a fight. We shouldn't have to live with fear just because we want to speak out. We should all have respect for each other no matter what your opinion, everyone is going to have their own opinion about something. We need to always fight for our rights and our country and not let anyone take them away from us and we don't need them thinking that they can over power us.

The people that really need General Welfare like Food stamps, housing, they can also get the help that they need for really cheap with general welfare whatever you need they will help you out. General Welfare has been around for a really long time but I don't think that the people that got General Welfare acted like they do today and are greedy about it. The people that really struggle with not making enough money and cant get food for their family or that cant get anything are the people that really need the help. Food stamps should be an equal amount of money. No one should get more or less. Food stamps should give more money because the money that they are giving to families is not enough to buy a whole meal and feed them all the amount of money that they should give should be around 400 to 600 dollars so that they can get enough food for their family and not have to worry about whos going to eat and whos not. General welfare can make the place you live in not safe because the people that really need food stamps either won't get it or won't get enough money to buy a whole meal. They just need to make it where people get the same amount and that all low income people should get approved for it not just who they think needs it. It's good that the government is even giving food stamps and cheap housing to people.

Terrorist bombing and just killing innocent people need to stop. There really is no way to stop them because if you ban guns, bombs, knives and whatever else they use then that will cause a big fight and protest because we need guns to protect ourselves. There was a bombing that happened in Atlanta at the Olympic park, and then an abortion clinic after he bombed there he bombed because he believed in Anti-Abortion and Anti-Government. They didn't even arrest him. He had called the police twice before doing it and then bombed another place and then he bombed two other states two years later. Terrorists are just walking the street when they need to be in jail when they do something bad. People get mad over someone else's opinion and think that only theirs matters and they will fight and kill over it. They will shoot up peaceful protests and kill innocent people. We can't go outside of our homes and into public without feeling scared that something might happen. There really isn't any way to stop it because if they ban protesting or anything like that then people will definitely get mad about that so somehow it needs to calm down so innocent people aren't dying. I think that we still need our rights and that we should be able to speak freely about our opinions and not have to cause a big fight. The government should be able to help the people that need it badly and people not have to get mad about it. Some people that have food stamps don't need it and they shouldn't be able to have it because it's making it to where the struggling people can't feed their families. People just need to mind their own business and if they don't have anything good to say just don't say it or don't kill people over it.
